Kennedy Runs Second

Demo Chairmen Favor Carter 2-1

By BILL BERGSTROM
Associated Press Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky Democratic county chairmen favor President Carter 2-to-1 over Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., for president, an Associated Press survey indicates.

Republican county chairmen picked Ronald Reagan as a slight favorite over John Connally for the GOP nomination, according to the poll.

In the Kentucky governor's race, most Democratic chairmen responding last week predicted Democrat John Y. Brown Jr. would carry their counties, while most Republicans said their counties would go to Republican Louie B. Nunn.

Questionnaires were sent to the county chairmen for both parties as part of a national survey by the AP. In heavily Democratic Kentucky, with 120 counties, 73 Democratic chairmen and 70 Republican chairmen responded. About 15 counties have no Republican chairmen.

Carter was the first choice of 43 of the Democratic chairmen, while 26 listed Kennedy as their first choice.

The chairmen were asked to pick their first and second choices from a list of potential candidates, or write in choices if they were not on the list.

Two Democrats wrote in Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., as their first choice for president, one picked Vice President Walter Mondale and one chose Sen. Daniel P. Moynihan.

Kennedy was the second choice of 24 Democratic chairmen and Carter of 21. Sen. Adlai Stevenson III was chosen second by nine chairmen, Moynihan by four, California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. by three, Wendell Ford by two, and Mondale by one.

Six chairmen marked no second choice. One, who listed Carter as first choice, marked no second choice but wrote in "Not Sen. Kennedy."

One listed John Y. Brown Jr., the gubernatorial candidate, as his second choice for the presidential nomination, and one listed Republican Ronald Reagan.

The chairmen were also asked if they were actively working for their presidential favorite.

And they were asked to predict confidentially which candidate for governor would carry their county.

Twelve Democrats said they were working for their favorite, 10 said they were not, and 48 said they were not but would in the future.

Forty-eight of the Democrats predicted Brown would carry their counties in the governor's race, 19 said they believed their counties would go to

Hazel Residents Aware Of Water System Needs

Hazel residents have been aware their water system needs some updating since the community's second well and pump went out of commission about two years ago, according to city officials.

Since early 1977, Murray, Calloway County and Hazel officials have been working to obtain federal funds for piping water from Murray to its southern sister city.

Officials have been successful in acquiring a Farm Home Administration loan of $660,000 which will, if Hazel residents approve the question during the November election, pay for three-quarters of the project's cost.

Calloway County Judge Robert O. Miller, who instigated formation of the South 641 Hazel Water District committee, said Murray and Hazel authorities have worked closely during the planning stages.

J. R. Taylor, chairman of the committee, said he sees no other way for Hazel to meet Environmental Protection Agency standards and keep the costs within reach of the community's pocketbook.

"To dig a new well and put in a new pump would cost almost as much as our share of this much larger project," he said. "With this federally funded plan we will receive all new water and sewer lines within the city, a new water tower at Midway which will increase water pressure and 30 additional fire hydrants.

"None of that would be possible if the city were footing the entire bill."

City officials do not anticipate that water rates, which will pay the community's debt, will be raised by a large amount.

Murray Mayor Melvin Henley said his community has plenty of water to sell to its sister city. "We won't have any problem meeting the needs of both communities," he said, "and if the Hazel residents don't accept this plan to help their water district, I don't know what they'll do."

The Environmental Protection Agency has the right to fine a community $10,000 per day for not meeting its requirements which call for daily testing of the public water supply by a certified employee.

It is the EPA standards that make the job of supplying water for its residents a difficult task for Hazel and all other communities of its size, officials say.

"Our best option is to tie on to a water supply from a larger community," said Hazel Mayor Joe Thompson, "and we sure hope the vote in November shows that our residents understand the problem and support this method of getting the project paid for, almost in its entirety, the federal government."

Corn, Soybean Farmers Lose Crops To Rains

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A report by the Kentucky Crop & Livestock Reporting Service shows state corn and soybean farmers have lost more than $16 million of their crops to recent heavy rains.

Flooding along the Ohio and Green rivers in Western Kentucky was blamed for most of the losses.

Nevertheless, Kentucky is expected to produce a record soybean crop of 51.2 million bushels and a near-record corn crop of 132.1 million bushels, the service reported Friday.

The same report said Kentucky's burley-tobacco yields will be the lowest since 1973. Burley farmers have experienced one of the wettest growing seasons in Kentucky history.

National corn and soybean crops have surpassed record levels projected in a similar report issued last month, the service reported.

The national corn harvest has been estimated at 7.39 billion bushels, compared to last month's estimate of 7.27 billion bushels and last year's actual production of 7.08 billion bushels.

The national soybean estimate has been raised from last month's 2.17 billion bushels to 2.21 billion bushels, up 18 percent from last year's figure.

Kentucky's average yield in corn production remains at a record 104 bushels an acre, 10 percent above last year's harvest figure. The estimate did drop 2 percent from last month's projections, the service noted, due to the loss of 20,000 acres of corn to flooding.

Two major rainstorms since the middle of last month caused heavy corn losses in Ohio, Henderson, Daviess, Butler, Union, McLean, Nelson and Hopkins counties, the reporting service said. Rain totals in some of the hard-hit counties ranged from 10 to 12 inches last month.

The service said that some 50,000 acres of soybeans were lost due to flooding and although the soybean estimate was 21 percent above last year's harvest figure, it was down 1.6 million bushels from last month's projection.

The Kentucky burley crop, put at 352 million pounds, is off 8 million pounds from last month's estimate, the service said. The crop was put at 76 million pounds below last year's production figure.

The public is invited to attend the pageant, a spokesman said.

Carter Signs Long-Delayed Legislation

Congress Given Raise; Workers Get Pay

By JAY PERKINS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter has signed long-delayed legislation giving members of Congress a $3,200 annual pay raise and restoring full salaries for 1.5 million government workers.

Final congressional acceptance of the emergency money bill late Friday ended a battle between the House and the Senate that had forced seven Cabinet-level departments to exist for nearly two weeks on funds left over from the fiscal year that ended Sept. 30.

The measure was rushed to the White House and signed by Carter at 10 p.m., said deputy White House press secretary Rex Granum.

"The president was concerned about the appropriations delay and he directed that once the bill reached the White House it be brought to him immediately," said Granum.

The costly impasse resulted in an estimated 1.5 million federal employees receiving only half their normal pay this week. An additional 2 million military personnel would have had a payless payday had the stalemate continued over the weekend.

And if it had continued much longer, the tie-up could have affected more than 56 million beneficiaries of various federal programs.

In addition, it probably cost the government in excess of $2 million in overtime, an unintended cost-of-living adjustment and computer expenses.

Carter's signature on the legislation ensures that funds for paychecks and programs flow through Nov. 20. Congress hopes to complete action by that time on the regular appropriations bills, which provide funds for the full year.

Several of the affected departments said they planned to send out checks containing the missing week's pay to their employees next week. They had been able to pay only for work done before Sept. 30.

Passage came only after the Senate grudgingly gave in to demands by the House to further limit federal funding for abortions and to give members of Congress a 5.5 percent increase in their $57,500 salaries. They now make $60,700 a year.

Weicker led the Senate charge against the pay raise, arguing that the House had caused the government's fiscal crisis in order to get the pay hike through the Senate.

"Those people (federal employees) and those programs were held hostage so the House of Representatives could vote themselves a pay raise," Weicker said.

There was no way to determine exactly how much the lengthy impasse cost the government.

But Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, noted that because no agreement was reached before Oct. 1, members of Congress, federal judges and some 22,000 bureaucrats automatically received a 12.9 percent cost-of-living pay hike.

Stevens, citing a court ruling, said that increase remained in effect until it was scaled back by passage of the lower 5.5 percent raise wanted by the House.

Officer Election, Budget Proposal Top Parks Board Agenda

The election of new officers and the 1980 budget proposal highlight the agenda of the Murray-Calloway County Parks Board meeting Tuesday, Oct. 16. The meeting will be held at 5:30 p.m. in the courthouse.

Other agenda items include a report on the status of the L & N freight depot, discussion of the batting cage concession proposal, the report of the finance committee, and the parks director's report.

1948 Racer Team To Reunite Homecoming

One of Murray State's most successful football teams of all time will reunite Oct. 27 for Homecoming activities and be honored in a special halftime ceremony.

Coached by Fred Faurot, the 1948 Racers won the school's first Ohio Valley Conference title in the league's initial year of existence and accepted an invitation to participate in the Tangerine Bowl.

Former players, coaches and team associates are invited back to campus with their families for a breakfast gathering (8 a.m.) at the training room of Winslow Cafeteria, a reunion (10:30 a.m.) at the Racer Room in Stewart Stadium and for a special field appearance at halftime of the Racers game with Eastern Kentucky.

Eastern Kentucky, incidentally, was the only opponent to blunish Murray State's record in 1948 as the Racers compiled a 9-1-1 mark.

Scoring an average of nearly 27 points and holding their opponents to just 7.8 points an outing, the Racers met Sul Ross State in the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla., New Year's Day and fought to a 21-21 tie.

Among the regulars for Sul Ross State that year was a 6-4, 270-pound tackle named Dan Blocker, who later achieved fame appearing as Hoss Cartwright in the popular Bonanza television series.

Four Racers earned All-Ohio Valley Conference recognition that year, including halfback Winnie Dill, guard Powell Puckett, tackle John Hackney and end Bob Sanders.

The '48 Racers still hold five single season team records, including most points (280), most yards gained rushing (2,604), best game rushing average (260.4), most rushing attempts (496) and best average per rushing attempt (5.2).

Murray State's 1948 squad is one of only three to claim a conference championship. Other titles were won in 1950 and 1951.

Roy Stewart, who served 10 seasons as head coach of the Racers, served as an assistant coach along with Ken McCree that season.

Graves Board May Appeal Tax Ruling

MAYFIELD, Ky. (AP) — A decision is due Monday by the Graves County Board of Elections on whether to appeal a court ruling that upheld a 3 percent utilities tax for county schools.

Some 3,000 Graves County residents signed a petition in an attempt to get the tax question on the Nov. 6 ballot so it could be rejected. The petition was filed during the summer with the Graves County Board of Education after the levy was adopted in July.

The petition was filed several days before the end of the filing period on the advice of Board of Elections Chairman Charles Harris, who also serves as Graves County Court clerk.

One day after the 30-day filing period for the petition had expired, on July 26, the board of education delivered the petition to Harris. School Superintendent Gynel Garnett advised Harris the law specifies that such petitions have to be filed with the board of elections.

In directing the filing of the petition with the school board, Harris admitted, he had referred to an outdated law. But he said, because of the unusual conditions involved with the filing, the elections group extended the filing time to cover the lapse.

Graves County Circuit Judge Seth Boaz ruled that the utilities levy was valid because the elections board did not have the authority to extend the time limit. He said the Board of Elections' authority ended July 25 and the petition was not delivered until later.

Harris said he would refrain from voting on whether to appeal the Boaz decision unless the board's vote results in a tie.

If an appeal is not filed and the court reversed between now and the election, the question will not be on the ballot, Harris said. But if the Board of Elections votes to appeal, "We will take the issue to the Court of Appeals as quickly as possible," he added.

Sallies Were Her Salvation

DEAR ABBY: I owe you heartfelt thanks for an article you wrote concerning missing persons some eight or nine months ago.

I had cried and prayed so much for someone to show me how to get in touch with my son, whom I hadn't heard from in two and a half years. Then I read in your column that the Salvation Army helps to locate people, so I wrote to them immediately.

In a matter of days they wrote back. Those wonderful people didn't leave a stone unturned in trying to locate my son. One night, less than two weeks later, my telephone rang. It was my son calling me! Abby, that had to be the happiest day of my life. We are now reunited.

Please print that information that helped me find my boy, since there are a lot of people who don't know where some of their loved ones are, or even if they are alive.

God bless you and the Salvation Army!

VIRGINIA B.

DEAR VIRGINIA: Anyone wanting to locate a lost relative should write to:

Salvation Army Missing Persons
 30540 Hawthorne Blvd.
 Rancho Palos Verdes, Calif. 90274

Please note the following: The Salvation Army will search for relatives ONLY, and even in a foreign country, but not for juvenile runaways or children kidnapped by the other parent.

They are not set up for adoption or genealogy research. And please do not ask them to locate a relative to collect a debt.

The Salvation Army is a non-profit organization, supported by donations, so if you request a search, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and a few dollars for long-distance telephone calls.

DEAR ABBY: What would cause a grown man to take guests in the house on a grand tour, pointing out the furnishings, objects of art, pieces that were found in various places around the world during his travels, etc., and nauseam?

The man is my husband, and I am so embarrassed when I see the looks on their faces. It sounds like so much bragging to me. I've even heard him mention how much various items cost. Lord, help me!

We do have a lovely home, have traveled extensively and have collected some interesting things, but, Abby, if he would just wait until someone admired an object, or asked him where it came from, there might be some justification for all his talk.

If he had been needy in his childhood I might be able to understand it, but that was not the case.

Tell me, please, what I can do to help him.

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Tell him privately and lovingly, in a non-critical way, what you have told me. Almost every reasonable person will accept suggestions graciously if they are presented properly.

DEAR ABBY: My wife's father is being transferred to a job near our home and has hinted that he would like to spend the working week living with us. (We have a guest room.)

Dad is a kind and generous man and I get along very well with him, but I value my privacy and prefer to live alone with my wife.

It would be possible for Dad to commute to his new job just as he is doing in his present one.

I feel a bit guilty not insisting that he live with us, but I have to admit that if he were to stay here from Monday through Friday of every week I wouldn't have the privacy I presently enjoy.

ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANON: A couple should not open their home to ANYONE unless both parties are in complete agreement. If either one has reservations, the word from here is DON'T!

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Treating acne early

DEAR DR. LAMB — Sometimes when I look at myself in the mirror, I feel like taking a razor and doing a quick mini facelift on my pockmarked, acne covered face.

My inner goals and desires are restricted because I'm so self-conscious I hate to go out and meet anyone.

Doesn't anyone realize the full impact, both mentally and physically, common acne has on an individual?

I've used all kinds of medications from Clearsil to dry ice and come to the conclusion that a facelift is the final most effective remedy. Alas, I'm to understand that this is quite expensive. Do you have any suggestions?

DEAR READER — It's unlikely that you need a facelift for acne. It is true that in longstanding acne cases that have scarred and pitted the face and weakened the tissues, a facelift is sometimes needed. But that won't cure the acne process itself.

It's also true that after the acne process has burnt itself out, if a person is left with a residually pitted and marked face, some of these can be treated surgically or by various skin peeling methods. The wise course is to have a consultation with a plastic surgeon who does cosmetic work and find out what might be useful in your individual case.

Now if you still have acne, you need to treat that instead and judging from your letter, it doesn't sound like you've ever really had adequate treatment. For that reason, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 8-2, Acne Can Be Treated. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. It will explain to you the basis for modern treatment of acne.

There are three basic approaches to treating acne. One is to decrease the excess oil sebum secretions or to eliminate the excess oil production. You can help with that by washing the face with warm water and gentle soap two or three times a day. In addition, you can mop the excess oil off with alcohol sponges.

The next facet of treatment is to peel the skin which literally removes the skin cells blocking the drainage of the oil glands. Such skin peeling is best done under the supervision of a physician. Such things as vitamin A acid are used for this purpose.

Finally, antibiotics are used to eliminate the bacteria that break down the fatty sebum into irritating chemicals. It's these irritating chemicals that cause the red pustules.

You might choose to see a dermatologist in your area and let him review your problem and see what might be done along the lines that I've suggested above and that could help your situation.

I completely understand how you feel about the problem. It's this ultimate result and reaction to acne that leads me to encourage everyone who has an acne problem that can't be controlled by simple home management to get professional help early. Adequate treatment early will go a long way toward preventing the pitting and scarring that may scar a person both physically and emotionally for the rest of his life.

Don Nickens Joins Big K Management

Don Nickens has recently joined Murray's Big K store as associate manager, according to an announcement by store manager James Talent. Nickens has been associated with Big K since 1973 and has been in a management position with the corporation since January of 1978. A native of Cookeville, Tenn., Nickens is a graduate of Mt. Juliet (Tenn.) High School and attended Tennessee Technological University. He was with Big K stores in Newport, and Athens, Tenn., prior to coming to Murray. Nickens wife, Tracy, is an instructor in the Special Education Department at Murray State University. Nickens said Murray "is a different sort of town than I'm used to from East Tennessee. We welcomed the change." "We're really pleased to have Nickens here," Talent said, adding that he would be a big asset to the store and the company.

The Tappan Appliance Division has introduced a new built-in microwave oven combination requiring just one cutout and a single electrical connection. Tappan Marketing officials say the new combination built-in has been designed to meet the increasing demand for deluxe built-in installations in both remodeling and new construction. The new Tappan unit (Model 57-2400) is designed for easy installation in 24-inch oven cabinets. The microwave oven at the top features a "touch" control panel with ten power levels, two memory levels, automatic temperature probe with extended hold capabilities, fluorescent digital display readout, black glass oven door with window, interior oven light, full-height piano hinge and side-swing door. The electric built-in oven includes an automatic clock, lift-off black glass oven door, 3,000 watt broiler element, all-porcelain oven and interior oven light. A new continuous cleaning oven liner kit is available as an optional extra with the new oven.

Many Hope Sun Shines Bright In Coming Winter

There are many in the state hoping that the sun shines bright on their old Kentucky homes this winter. One is Elizabethtown architect Harold Cox, who is looking for big reductions in utility bills with his specially designed solar home. In fact, Cox, who says "I cringe when the meter wheels start turning in winter," is shooting for 80 percent solar heat in his home. A large stone fireplace, with openings on all four sides, anchors the middle of Cox's house. None of the walls in the architect's home reach the ceiling; angled windows allow solar heat to pass into the dwelling. Says Cox: "Our forefathers understood better than we do how to use energy rather than block it out. Energy is everywhere in nature. The logical solution, rather than try to lock out nature's energy, would be to effectively use it." Most solar heating systems are either passive or active. A passive solar design uses a collector and storage but no outside pushing forces. An active system uses outside energy, particularly pumps, to move air or fluids. "Neither is what I would feel to be 100 percent complete. Active gives better control on the use of heat. Some days passive gives you too much heat, other days not enough," says Cox. The construction of solar-heated homes in Kentucky is getting impetus from a Tennessee Valley Authority program which is designed to put the sun's energy to work throughout the South. TVA is overseeing construction of homes in Bowling Green, Scottsville and Glasgow. TVA provides technical expertise to contractors hired to build homes and offers a $2,500 rebate to home buyers. The agency also monitors the home for one year to check the efficiency of the solar heating. The $30 to $34 per-square-foot price of the homes makes them about five percent more expensive than a conventional home of the same size. But, notes Ken Smith, an engineer with the Barren River Area Development District, which is working with TVA on the project, the added expense should be made up through utility savings.

The homes, which will range in cost from $42,000 to $78,200, are designed to cut down on wind infiltration and to let in a lot of light in the winter and more shade in the summer. "They not only save on utilities but the homes are a better place to live," says Smith. "With more light in the winter, it seems less dreary and people feel warmer with more light." Another experiment in home solar heating is being conducted at Earthward Bound, an ecological center based on 1,100 acres of Big Lick Hollow in southern Nelson County. "We chose Kentucky for our solar equipment because a system that will work here should really work," says Mu Sinclair, Earthward Bound executive director. "A system adapted in Kentucky, with its less than ideal weather, should really work."

The three-bedroom solar home at Earthward Bound was designed by a team of architects from the University of Cincinnati. Sinclair says the architects estimated the home, with its passive solar system, could take up to 75 percent of its heat from the sun. Elizabeth architect Cox says those interested in solar heated homes should be knowledgeable or listen to the designer and should be prepared for things "they've never gone through before." "I don't want to fool anybody, there are bugs. The person's home becomes an experiment," says Cox.

Yates And Keel Named To Sales Staff At Jim Fain Motors Here

Ed Parker, general manager of Jim Fain Motors, has announced the addition of Max Keel and David Yates to the sales staff of the local Chrysler-Plymouth-Dodge dealership. Yates, a former quality control inspector at Fisher-Price, is married to the former Debbie Daniel of Owensboro. He is the son of Charles Yates, assistant superintendent of Christian County Schools. The Yates live at 813 Bagwell in Murray and have one son, Andy. Yates attended Murray State University and has lived in Murray for seven years. Keel, a lifelong resident of Calloway County, is well known throughout the community. He is married to the former Marie Spann and they live on Rt. 4, Murray, in the Wiswell community. Keel has been involved in business locally for many years and has many friends throughout West Kentucky. Both Keel and Yates issued an invitation to their friends to visit them at Jim Fain Motors.

Book Review Murphy's Law, Other Reasons

Murphy's Law and Other Reasons Why Things Go Wrong!

By Arthur Bloch. Price-Ster-Sloan Publishers, Inc.

By Gary E. Brown, Prof. of Psychology, The University of Tennessee at Martin. Have you ever had a day, a week, or possibly a lifetime when everything that could possibly go wrong did? Don't feel paranoid. You are not out of contact with reality; this is reality, which follows one of nature's most basic laws — Murphy's Law. According to Murphy's Law, whatever can possibly go wrong will, and furthermore, the law is universal, reaching into all areas of life. Arthur Bloch has documented countless corollaries and examples of Murphy's Law in action in his new book entitled Murphy's Law and Other Reasons Why Things Go Wrong! As with any scientific law, there are a number of related laws and corollaries to Murphy's Law. Among the corollaries: "Nothing is as easy as it looks. Everything takes longer than you think. Left to themselves, things tend to go from bad to worse. It is impossible to make anything foolproof because fools are so ingenious." Bloch has divided his book into chapters dealing with applications of Murphy's Law: related laws, corollaries in various highly technical job categories such as science, engineering, accounting, and business, as well as chapters on everyday life. Apparently, the more intellectual and meticulous one is, the more susceptible he-she is to Murphy's Law. One of man's greatest achievements, the bureaucracy, is hit especially hard by Bloch. For example: "Work is accomplished best by those employees who have not yet reached their level of incompetence. Authority tends to assign jobs to those least able to do them, or if there is a way to delay an important decision, the good bureaucracy, public or private, will find it. Not only does Murphy's Law apply to various professional areas, it also accurately describes simple everyday life. In a chapter titled "Humanship," Bloch offers some of his best examples. There is Parker's Law: "Beauty is only skin deep, but ugly goes all the way to the bone." Or there is Biefield's Principle — "The probability of a young man meeting a desirable and receptive young female increases by pyramidal progressions when he is already in the company of: 1) a date, 2) his wife; 3) a better looking and richer male friend." Most of the laws, corollaries, and examples found in Bloch's book are so good that the reader will want to write them down and place them on his wall as a daily reminder that the chaos that he lives in is really lawful. One word of warning — you had better have a very large wall!

Queen Margrethe led her subjects in commemorating the 100th anniversary of Knudsen's birth by opening a special photographic exhibition of his life, times and contributions to Detroit's automobile industry.

A fly-in at the Murray-Calloway County airport this Monday will signal the kickoff of the appearance of Red Baron pizza in Murray.

'Red Baron' To Land At Local Airport This Monday Afternoon

Exploits of the Red Baron, legendary air ace of World War I, will be recalled at a fly-in here on October 15th at 5:30 p.m. The original Red Baron, the Baron Manfred Von Richthofen, acquired his fame and nickname during the first world war by personally downing 80 Allied aircraft while leading a German fighter squadron dubbed Richthofen's Flying Circus. His own plane was painted a bright red as a challenge to opposing airmen. Considered by the Germans themselves to be singlehandedly worth three of their own divisions in combat, he was awarded their highest military honor, the Order Pour Le Merite, or Blue Max. Von Richthofen's deeds took place during the waning days of an era of chivalrous warfare. After he was shot down over France in 1918 by Captain A. Roy Brown of the British Royal Flying Corps, he was given a hero's burial by the Allies. A British plane was sent to fly low over his home airfield, dropping a canister containing news of his death and assurance that he had been buried with full military honors.

The fly-in Monday is part of a promotion to introduce Red Baron Pizza. The public is invited. The pilot will fly a Boeing Stearman open-cockpit biplane rebuilt and repainted to resemble the Red Baron's original Fokker triplane. Stearmans were widely used by the U.S. as training planes during World War II. He will be attired in goggles, leather helmet and flowing silk scarf reminiscent of early flying garb and will be guest of honor at a reception for the grocery trade following the fly-in.

Letters To The Editor

Move On Bio-Ethics

Dear Editor,

Father Martin Mattingly's letter regarding the recently appearing article by Joseph Fletcher "The Ethics of Genetic Control" warrants some clarification on the intention of the Bioethics Public Forum planned for later this month. Sponsored by Murray Calloway Ministerial Association, the Murray Calloway County Hospital, and the United Campus Ministry, the public forum is intended to promote discussion of important ethical issues involved in advanced medical technology.

It is not the sponsors' purpose to advocate one position over another. Articles, such as Dr. Fletcher's, are intended to provide varying perspectives on these very significant concerns. Dr. Fletcher's article was offered to represent a position of strenuous intervention in matters of genetic engineering and human reproduction.

A subsequent article by Dr. Robert Sinshheimer argues an opposing view to that of Dr. Fletcher. The views expressed in these articles as well as by guest speakers in the forum do not represent the views of any of the groups or organizations sponsoring or contributing to the program.

It is the hope of planners of this forum program that, through exposure to such varied view points, persons in our community might become better informed and also become involved in discussion and reflection of the moral consequences of these developments.

Sincerely,
Fred C Morton

Echoes From The Past By Judy Maupin

Odds And Ends

Occasionally, I accumulate letters and notes from readers and find myself with bits and pieces of information, none of which are enough for a whole column, but are still things that I like to include. This column will be an attempt to do this.

Some time back, after I had the column about the lost Egyptian temple, I received a very nice note from Mary Jane Timmerman, who is in the Art Department at Murray State University. She enclosed a copy of an article about the temple, which is now in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, in New York City. So all archaeologists note — you can stop hunting for it in LBI.

I also received a call, quite a while ago, after I had done a column on Brandon's Mill, telling me that the original old mill stone which was used there, and which evidently is extremely old, is now located at the intersection of Fourth Street and Sycamore, in someone's yard. I drove by there, and sure enough, there it is, either leaning against a low stone fence, or incorporated into it.

Simone Taylor has asked me if I would inquire as to the history behind the statue on the Court Square. I did learn that the man on the horse is Robert E. Lee (Simone and I are both "Northerners"), so this information is not second-nature to us, as I am sure it is to everyone who has grown up here) and that it was erected by the Daughters of the Confederacy. If any reader has more information to share concerning this, it will be appreciated.

Jesse Ross has informed me that he is now completing a family history of the Jones family, mainly dealing with that branch located in Trigg County, although many parts of the family are now in Calloway County. His book also mentions a Jones Cemetery in Calloway County. Does anyone know where this is located?

I am occasionally asked what my "regular" job is, since it is obvious that writing this column is not a full-time job. I am administrative assistant to Doris Helge, at Murray State Editorials, columns and other opinionated articles on this page are presented for the purpose of providing a forum for the free exchange of differing opinions.

We at The Murray Ledger & Times strongly believe that to limit opinionated articles to only those which parallel the editorial philosophy of this newspaper would be a disservice to our readers.

Therefore, we encourage readers who do not agree with an editorial stand or the ideas presented by an individual writer in a column or other article, to respond with their feelings on the particular issues being discussed with a letter to the editor.

By the same token, if an issue has not been discussed on this page and a reader feels that the issue merits the attention of the general public, we welcome a letter to the editor or an authored article on whatever that topic might be.

Jimmy's White House

Carter And Baseball

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter is renowned in Plains, Ga., as a softball pitcher, but World Series time reminds us he's the first president in decades who has not attended a single big league baseball game.

Carter has not totally neglected the "national pastime," although paying obeisance to baseball hasn't always been easy.

As an example, take his tribute to the two big leaguers, Lou Brock of the St. Louis Cardinals and Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox, who collected their 3,000th career hits this season.

Carter was quick to send off congratulatory messages to both men. Then House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill told reporters Yastrzemski would be invited to the White House to meet the president.

Since Brock's 3,000th hit had come first, the Cardinals outfielder was hunk. When a sportswriter told him he also would be invited to meet with Carter, Brock said, "I wouldn't accept it if he asked me now."

In time, hurt feelings were mended and Brock preceded Yastrzemski to the Oval Office. What's more, Brock proclaimed the visit a "real treat" and said he was "deeply honored."

Neither man talked politics with the president, although paying tribute to baseball is an enshrined part of the nation's political rites — even if massaging the egos of ballplayers, as Carter learned, can be every bit as taxing as dealing with politicians.

O'Neill, a passionate Red Sox fan, confided recently that Yastrzemski, a Roman Catholic of Polish descent, had his own feelings hurt last year when Carter did not name him to the official U.S. delegation that went to the Vatican for the coronation of the Polish pope, John Paul II.

When the president hosted a White House reception for the pope last Saturday, Yastrzemski was there.

When country singer Dolly Parton visited the White House last week, she kissed Carter smack on the lips — or was it vice versa?

In any case, she told news photographers, "My husband wants a picture of this, too."

"It's the wrong time to bring up your husband," joked Carter, whose wife was at his elbow looking not at all displeased.

"Carriers

Nancy Lopez knows what it takes.
That's why she says newspaper carriers have the secret for success.

"It takes steadiness to be a champion.
And that's what carriers give you—steady performance every day."

Newspaper carriers have the qualities to get ahead, which explains why so many are setting aside part of their earnings as a fund for their future.

U.S. Savings Bonds have the dependability carriers understand. They know they can count on Bonds, just as millions of Americans have for almost 40 years.

So the Treasury Department is proud

The victory went to Murray High and the loss to Calloway County, but more importantly, says Stan Outland, is that a series got off on the right foot.

"This was a good, clean game, and I hope those between these two schools are the same in future years," said Outland, the Calloway County coach, after Murray methodically dispatched of the Lakers 32-6 last night at Ty Holland Stadium.

The first varsity football game ever between Murray and Calloway, the game upped the Tigers' record to 5-3, while the Lakers, in their first varsity season, fell to 0-7.

"This was certainly a big win for us, because it puts us one step closer to a winning season," said Murray High coach John Hina. "This game (vs Calloway) will be an excellent rivalry for years to come, as it was tonight."

Outland's only gripe concerned the officials, whom he said "let the game get out of hand for a while. They let some late hitting (after a tackle) start, and pretty soon there were people mad out there," Outland said in offering an explanation of apparent temper flareups by members of both teams at the start of the second half.

By then, though, Murray owned a 24-0 lead it had taken into its dressing room at halftime, thanks largely to the running of junior running back Tim Foster.

Foster took the game's opening kickoff and weaved his way 85 yards for a touchdown. The Tigers, though, missed the extra point, the first of four errant tries, for a 6-0 just 19 seconds into the game.

Nick Swift's one-yard run and Rich Rollins' seven-yard scoring pass to Robin Roberts only six seconds into the second quarter pushed the Tigers ahead 18-0 and set the stage for Foster's second touchdown — a 92-yard scamper down the right sideline. "We knew we had to contain him (Foster)," said Outland. "And we did inside. But once he gets a step on anyone, there are very few people who can stop him."

Calloway went 15 minutes before moving to its initial first down. But trailing 18-0, it finally put together a drive, aided by 35 yards in penalties assessed on Murray, to move to the Tigers' 21-yard line.

But three running plays for six yards forced Laker quarterback Brad Bryan's fourth-down pass that fell incomplete. Two plays after the change of possession, Foster was sprung over right tackle for the 92-yard gallop.

The Lakers again put together a sustained drive to open the third quarter, grinding six minutes off the clock and advancing to midfield.

But Swift, who is a linebacker on defense, intercepted a third-down pass by Bryan and found nothing

Calloway County quarterback Brad Bryan (12) passed against Murray High defenders Jeff Chadwick (78) and Tony Herndon (73) during last night's game at Ty Holland Stadium. The Tigers beat the Lakers 32-6 in the first-ever game between the two teams.

Orioles Erupt With Big Inning, Now Lead Series 2-1

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Earl Weaver, the man of many moves, went into his act again Friday night.

The Baltimore Orioles manager, looking for more offense, concocted a lineup which produced an 8-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the third game of the 1979 World Series.

The American League champion Orioles now lead the best-of-seven Series 2-1, with the fourth game set to start at noon, CDT, today — just over 12 hours after the completion of Friday night's rain-soaked contest.

Dennis Martinez, 15-16, was to pitch for the Orioles today against Jim Bibby of the National League champion Pirates. Bibby, a former American Leaguer, was 12-4 in the regular season.

Weaver's team spotted the heavy-hitting Pirates a 3-0 lead, with John Candelaria, Pittsburgh's top pitcher, working. But that's when Weaver's newlook lineup went to work.

"I don't know what all the commotion is about," said Weaver. "This was not a makeshift lineup. It was the lineup that helped us win 102 games for the American League pennant."

"I didn't agonize and plot over the change. It came naturally. I have a lot of depth and I use them all."

Weaver got solid production from three of the new starters, who combined for seven hits, three runs and six RBI.

Garcia equaled a World Series record of reaching base safely five times with four hits and a walk. The shortstop is only the sixth player to accomplish the feat, including Babe Ruth twice and former Baltimore third baseman Brooks Robinson.

Garcia also became the 38th player to get four hits in a Series game, the second player to do so in this 76th Series. Pittsburgh's Dave Parker had four hits in the first game.

Garcia was a .256 hitter in the regular season, and has had just one four-hit game in his major league career.

"I didn't know I was playing until I got to the clubhouse and read the lineup," said Garcia.

"I sat out the first two games. I was ready to start."

Weaver indicated he would make some changes after the second game defeat Thursday night when he remarked:

"I'm putting in a call for Dr. Longball and hope we hit some out tomorrow."

"Dr. Longball" was a key participant in the Orioles' comeback against Candelaria. Trailing the Pirates 3-0, Baltimore got a two-run homer from Ayala in the third.

And in the fourth — following a 67-minute rain delay between the top and bottom of the third inning — Baltimore produced its second five-run inning of the Series. Garcia ripped a bases-loaded triple into the right-center field alley to boost the Orioles into a 5-3 lead.

"It (the lineup) was one that helped us get here in the first place," Weaver said. "Garcia has come in on different occasions all year and swung the bat."

Weaver observed, "Benny (Ayala) has done that for us a number of times."

Garcia contributed a double, triple, two singles, a walk, batted in four runs and scored twice. Ayala had a single and home run, scored once and had two RBI.

Weaver sacrificed defense to use Garcia, but his team had scored just two runs in the last 17 Series innings. So, he sat down shortstop Mark Belanger for Garcia.

Ayala also didn't know he was starting until he saw the lineup posted in the clubhouse.

Ayala admitted that he never knows when Weaver is going to use him.

"He doesn't play me against certain left-handers," Ayala said. "It's mostly if he thinks I can hit a certain left-hander."

Weaver didn't exactly pick a soft touch for Ayala. Candelaria is considered one of the best left-handers in baseball.

Candelaria appeared to be affected adversely by the rain delay but the delay made Baltimore winner Scott McGregor stronger.

"I definitely was stronger after the rain," McGregor said. "Before, I was up in the strike zone and didn't have a breaking pitch."

"We've had a few delays like that ... and I've pitched a lot in the rain. I don't know if it's the second warmup or not, but I get better."

Tanner said he thought Candelaria was throwing well and that's why he stayed with the left-hander, who suffered back and rib problems in the last month of the season.

"He warmed up well (after the rain). I had faith in him. But he got the ball up too much. Garcia's triple was on a pitch in the middle of the plate," Tanner said.

"We have to go out and get even, just like we did after the first game," said the Pittsburgh manager.

Baltimore's final run came in the seventh on a double by catcher Rick Dempsey and a Garcia single. The Pirates trailed a fourth run on a double by Willie Stargell and Bill Madlock's single in the sixth.

McGregor retired the last 11 batters. The Series was marred by the weather for the third straight game. They played on a soggy field after rain and snow preceded the rain postponed opener. It rained in the final innings of the second game. And there was the Friday night rain delay.

The games also have been lengthy. The first was three hours, 18 minutes, the second game 3:12 and Friday's 2:51, plus the rain delay.

NBA Season Opens Magic Abounds

By TOM CANAVAN
Associated Press Writer

Earvin Johnson brought his magic act into the National Basketball Association Friday night but it was nothing compared to the rabbit that teammate Kareem Abdul-Jabbar pulled out of his hat.

Abdul-Jabbar sank a desperation hookshot from the free throw line as time ran out, lifting the Los Angeles Lakers to a 103-102 comeback victory over the San Diego Clippers as the NBA opened its season.

"I usually don't shoot that good from that far away," quipped Abdul-Jabbar, who scored the Lakers' last nine points.

"The play was set up for Earvin or (Norm) Nixon and they were both guarded so I got the ball," Abdul-Jabbar said. "I didn't even know where I was."

The climactic closing, before a national television audience, followed a Lakers' inbound pass with two seconds remaining. It negated a 46-point performance by the Clippers' Lloyd Free and gave new Lakers Coach Jack McKinney a victory in his debut.

In other season-opening action, Boston, led by celebrated rookie Larry Bird, defeated Houston 114-106; Atlanta crushed New York 121-104; New Jersey whipped Cleveland 102-95; Philadelphia nipped Washington 93-92; Detroit bested Indiana 114-105; Kansas City held off Milwaukee 105-103; Phoenix defeated Golden State 97-89, and Portland blasted Utah 101-85.

Celtics 114, Rockets 106

Boston unveiled Bird, last year's college player of the year, and he was hardly disappointing, despite scoring just 14 points. Bird played just 28 minutes, had 10 rebounds, five assists and five personal fouls. Moses Malone, last season's Most Valuable Player in the NBA, led the Rockets with 31 points. However, it wasn't enough to send new Coach Del Harris home a winner.

76ers 93, Bullets 92

Darryl Dawkins scored 24 points, including the game-winning basket on a layup with 14 seconds to play, as Philadelphia edged Washington. Julius Erving led the 76ers with 27 points while Elvin Hayes paced the Bullets with 25 points.

Nets 102, Cavaliers 95

John Williamson scored 28 points and newly acquired center Rich Kelley added 24 points and 11 rebounds, leading New Jersey over Cleveland and new Coach Stan Albeck. Rookie Calvin Natt added 20 points and 19 rebounds for the Nets. Mike Mitchell led the Cavaliers with 13 points.

Suns 97, Warriors 89

Paul Westphal scored 25 points, including six on a pair of three-point field goals, as Phoenix whipped Golden State. Robert Parish led Golden State with 19 points and Sonny Parker added 18.

Trail Blazers 101, Jazz 85

Tom Owens, the man who took over for Walton in Portland last year, poured in 29 points as the Trail Blazers crushed Utah before Portland's 102nd consecutive home sellout. Utah, playing its first NBA contest after the Jazz franchise shifted from New Orleans, committed 25 turnovers. Adrian Dantley scored 26 points for the Jazz.

Pistons 114, Pacers 105

Bob McAdoo scored 23 points in his first game for Detroit and Bob Lanier and John Shumate added 20 apiece to pace the Pistons. Indiana guard Johnny Davis topped all scorers with 28 points while Alex English chipped in with 22 points.

Hawks 121, Knicks 104

Steve Hawes poured in 20 points and five other Hawks scored in double figures as Atlanta whipped the Knicks, who got 22 points from No. 1 draft pick Bill Cartwright.

Kings 105, Bucks 103

Otis Birdsong scored 26 points as Kansas City overcame an 11-point halftime deficit and edged Milwaukee. Marques Johnson, who missed the Bucks training camp during a contract dispute, led all scorers with 28 points.

Calloway County runner Tommy Workman evaded the grasp of Murray High's Robin Roberts last night during the Tigers' 32-6 triumph.

Ranked Teams Meet Head On Across Kentucky On Friday

By The Associated Press

Franklin-Simpson, Pikeville and Louisville Trinity came out on top of three Kentucky high school football games this weekend matching ranked teams.

Franklin-Simpson, unbeaten and ranked atop the Class AAA poll, was the biggest victor of the weekend, taking a 28-12 verdict from previously unbeaten Bowling Green, the No. 2 team in State AAAA. Kelly Baird ran 70 yards for one score and took passes of 60 and 40 yards from Joe Phillips for two other scores as Franklin-Simpson raised its record to 8-0. Bowling Green is 7-1.

Pikeville, ranked fourth in Class AA, brought Elkhorn City's unbeaten season to an unceremonious halt with a 47-6 trouncing of Class A's No. 2 team. Bo Adkins ran for 133 yards and three touchdowns as Pikeville improved its record to 7-1, a mark now shared by Elkhorn City.

Trinity, 8-0, strengthened its hold on the No. 1 ranking in Jefferson County AAAA by handing fourth-ranked Louisville Bishop David a 12-0 setback. It was the second loss in eight starts for Bishop David.

Three other ranked teams were beaten. No. 4 Lexington Bates Creek of State AAAA, 6-2, was a 6-0 victim of Lexington Henry Clay, No. 5 Louisville DeSales of Jefferson County AAAA dropped a 17-6 decision to Louisville St. Xavier, and Russell County posted a 19-6 upset over previously unbeaten Boyle County, Class AA's No. 5 team.

Three other top-ranked teams joined Franklin-Simpson and Trinity on the winning side. Owensboro of State AAAA extended its record to 9-0 with a 13-0 win over Daviess County as Chuck Riley ran for one score and Tony James passed to Waylon Morton for the other.

Mayfield, tops in Class AA, built its record to 8-1 with a 34-0 trouncing of Trigg County while Richmond Madison of Class A, now 6-1, blanked Owen County 22-0.

In other games involving ranked teams:

— Jefferson County AAAA: No. 2 Louisville Iroquois, 8-0, nipped previously unbeaten Louisville Eastern 18-12 and No. 3 Louisville Butler, 8-0, blasted Louisville Southern 40-6.

— State AAAA: No. 3 Franklin County, 9-0, earned a playoff spot with a 16-14 squeaker over Shelby County and No. 5 Paducah Tilghman, 6-1, slipped by Christian County 14-7.

— Class AAA: Keith Lewis ran for two touchdowns as second-ranked Scott County, 7-1, shut out Danville 21-0. No. 3 Belfry, 7-0, buried Johnson Central 40-0. No. 4 Lincoln County, 8-0, got by Garrard County 13-0 and No. 5 Barren County, 8-0, nipped Glasgow 10-8 on Craig Gentry's 24-yard field goal with four seconds to play.

— Class AA: No. 2 Corbin, 7-0, ramblod to a 28-0 win over Somerset and No. 3 Heath, 7-1, got by Caldwell County 7-3.

— Class A: Don Jarrell ran five yards for the only touchdown of the game as No. 3 Paintsville, 6-1, got by Raceland 8-2. No. 4 Harlan, 9-0, buried Fleming-Neon 40-7 in a Thursday game, and No. 5 Bellevue, 6-2, eased by Beechwood 14-7 as Jon Sutkamp ran for both touchdowns.

McCullough Excited About Southern Lead

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Mike McCullough, leader of the $200,000 Southern Open Golf Tournament entering today's third round, was so excited he couldn't remember the last time he had been in contention.

McCullough fired a 69 Friday for a 36-hole total of 134 and a one-shot lead over defending champion Jerry Pate and Gibby Gilbert.

Pate, winner of this tournament the past two years, matched McCullough's 69 for a 135 total, while Gilbert had a 66 over the hilly, 6,791-yard Green Island Country Club course.

"I'm much more excited today than I was Thursday," admitted McCullough, an eight-year tour veteran who has yet to win.

Asked about the last time he was in position to win, McCullough said, "I just can't remember."

For the record, the 34-year-old McCullough's best finish this year was a tie for fourth in the Doral-Eastern Open. His best finish ever was second in the 1977 Tournament Players Championship.

"After not playing well for so long, it was exciting to play well again. It just feels good to be in contention again," said McCullough, who has been in a six-month slump. He failed to survive the cut in his last four tournaments.

Pate, among the tour's money leaders with $188,000 this year, has shot better than par 70 in 10 consecutive rounds here. "If I can shoot a couple of 68s Saturday and Sunday, I can win again," he said.

Smith Didn't Have To Apologize For Performance, But He Did

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's Chuck Smith didn't have to apologize for his performance last week against West Virginia, but he did anyway.

The junior linebacker nailed Mountaineer backs for 15 tackles, including 10 solos, but the Wildcats lost 10-6 and slipped to 1-3.

"The tackles were good, but I like to hit harder," Smith said. "I just didn't wrap up on the ball carrier real well. I could have had some tackles behind the line if I had."

Smith and his Wildcat teammates will have a chance to redeem themselves tonight when Kentucky hosts Mississippi in Commonwealth Stadium.

The Rebels, led by highly touted sophomore quarterback John Fourcade, also are 1-3, despite averaging 325 yards of total offense a game.

"It's the best offensive team we've faced this season, by far," said Smith. "Fourcade is a great athlete and their leader. He can pass, but he can also break it up for long yardage by running."

Despite an injured finger on his throwing hand, Fourcade has completed 54.7 percent of his passes for 405 yards and three touchdowns.

Kentucky, meanwhile, has yet to score a touchdown on a pass. That may be due in part to injuries that have caused Coach Fran Curci to play musical quarterbacks through a 1-3 start.

Fourcade passes well, but is no one-dimensional quarterback, said UK defensive coordinator Charlie Bailey.

"It's hard to keep him hemmed up," Bailey said. "He avoids the rush and, if the linebackers have a breakdown in their containment, it presents a problem for everyone defensively."

Fourcade is not the only weapon in Coach Steve Sloan's arsenal. The Rebels also boast formidable punter Jim "Thunderfoot" Miller.

Miller this season has punted 18 times for 800 yards — a 44.4-yard average. His longest has been 65 yards.

Solomon Wins Match

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Second-seeded Harold Solomon of the United States defeated Brazil's Carlos Kirmalir 7-6, 6-1 and American Eddie Dibbs, seeded fourth, beat Tomaz Smid of Czechoslovakia 6-4, 6-1 in the quarterfinals of a $175,000 tennis tournament.

Solomon will meet Dibbs and Ramirez will face Gildemeister in the semifinals.

between him and goal line except 51 yards, which he covered to boost the Tigers up 32-0.

A Murray fumble at its own 14 two minutes later was recovered by Calloway's Larry Sanders, and Bryan ran in from two yards five plays later from the two for the final margin.

"We did move the football and run off a lot of the clock. That was something we had to do to stand a chance," Outland. "If you take away a couple of our big mistakes, it could have been much closer."

As it was, though, Foster's eight carries were good for a game-high 128 yards. Tim McAlister and Tommy Workman notched 25 and 22 yards, respectively, for the Lakers.

"A lot of people don't give Murray High the credit it deserves for being a very good football team," said Outland. "This is the best and most consistent we've played all year, so I have to be pleased. The fact that we weren't blown out says a lot for this team."

Each quarterback — Rollins for Murray and Bryan for Calloway — completed two passes, and each to a single receiver. Rollins found Robin Roberts open twice for 27 yards, and he hit the junior with a two-point conversion pass in the third quarter.

Bryan, who had passes picked off by Brad Wells, Swift, Foster and Greg Schanbacher, found teammate Workman for two completions for 21 yards.

Calloway defensive back Mickey Butterworth intercepted a Randy Halley pass on the game's final play when Halley tried a long halfback pass.

Both Murray and Calloway County will host their homecoming games Friday. The Tigers face Todd County Central at 7:30 p.m., while the Lakers entertain Crittenden County at 8 p.m. at Roy Stewart Stadium.

Western Manitoba Has Great Waterfowl Hunting

The sunsets in western Manitoba are a mixture of time and fire red color blazed across the sky, running from far hills up overhead into darkness in the east. And it creeps, letting you savor the beauty far longer than sunsets last down in the states.

But the spectacle doesn't end when the color is gone. That's when the northern lights take over, pale, shifting curtains against a black, star-dotted back-drop. The dusk air in rural Manitoba is cool and clean.

I was there to fulfill a dream. A diehard duck hunter, I'd always promised myself that someday I would see the origins of the birds where heretofore had been such mysteries. They come in October and November on northwinds from a land I'd known only in books. But someday I'd go.

That someday was Sept. 20. Hunting partners Don Buck and Philip Sumner planned the trip, and we flew to that land of marshes and grainfields where ducks supposedly buzz like mosquito clouds as they gather for the migration south. Many dreams are broken or don't live up to expectations, but this one proved to exceed them.

We left from Nashville, making stops in Chicago and Winnipeg before the last hop to The Pas, Manitoba. The town of 6,000 is the center of the northernmost agricultural region in the province. It's also surrounded by thousands of acres of lake and marsh, prime breeding grounds for a major segment of the North American waterfowl population.

Our contact was Roy Carter, owner of a sporting goods and stationery store in The Pas. Roy serves as unofficial host for visiting sportsmen, and he helped us line up lodging, transportation, a boat and a retriever (the last two his own on loan). He also advised us of spots to try on our first Canadian expedition.

The morning of Sept. 21 we got a late start after buying licenses ($57, including fishing permits) and checking out the hunting laws. The limit on ducks was eight per man, per day, and non-residents were allowed only four mallards. Possession limits were double the daily limits.

It was 9:30 a.m. when we headed out of town toward a place called Pasqua Marsh. Friends from Paducah had hunted the marsh the previous year and had enjoyed phenomenal success.

The countryside immediately south and west of

The Pas is grain country. Great flat fields of wheat, oats, barley, rye and rape were everywhere, and farmers were working to get in a crop which was late and threatened by winter.

Driving through the fields we kept seeing small groups of ducks. Some of the birds were passing, others were working into the grainfields. Also, we saw several groups of hunters, many of whom were walking through the standing grain to flush ducks like pheasants.

A half dozen miles later we saw our first lure crop, a standing grain crop bought by the government and left to pull birds away from crops slated for harvest. Lure crops are sacrificial lambs of a sort given to the ducks so damage in other fields will be reduced.

We stopped the truck and watched as thousands of birds flew from the marsh into the field. It was posted to hunting, so we took some pictures and then headed on toward the canal which led into the marsh.

The weather was sunny, and the temperature was around 50. When we got to the launching spot we met a group of hunters loading their boat and stowing their limit of ducks. The birds were a mixture of mallards and teal. The hunters said action was slowing, and that we would have trouble filling our limits due to the warm, bright conditions. But optimists eternal, we launched the boat. We hadn't flown 2,000 miles to lounge in our cabin.

And the men were right. We stayed in the marsh for three hours and collected three ducks, but at least we were there and witnesses to a part of the vast wetland complex which sends our ducks down the Mississippi flyway.

The marsh itself was some 40,000 acres of potholes and cattail stands. The mud was thick and hard to walk in. Water off the ditch was deep enough to float our boat but not to run the motor.

Before we left I waded out around 100 yards and found a big pothole that seemed to hold an attraction for what few ducks were flying in the area. We would be there at dawn the next morning.

That dawn brought a different picture. The marsh was live with birds, and they flew into our decoys with abandon. Most were teal, and the shooting was sporty and fast. Chamois, our retriever, was kept busy going out and bringing back birds. Shooting time started at 6:45 a.m., and by 10 a.m. we were out with the limit of 24 ducks.

Recipe for Canadian duck hunting: mix one Manitoba barley field, one late afternoon and one hunter waiting with a loaded shotgun.

THE DUCKS WILL COME

In the afternoon we drove farm roads and kept our eyes open for a field where mallards were working. During the second afternoon we found such a place, a barley field of some 300 acres. The owners, Albert and Alice Patterson, were only too happy to have us hunt on their property. "There are about 20,000 mallards and pintails feeding in our field, and you're welcome to them," Mrs. Patterson said. We couldn't believe what we were hearing.

If anything was wrong, it was the fact that action came too fast. We'd walk out in the field early or late, watch where the ducks were trying to land, and then take up positions in that spot. Soon another flight would appear, swing downwind and then float back to us. It didn't take long to down our 12 mallards when the birds were flying.

Between hunts we had a chance to tour the countryside and talk to many of the local people. They are some of the nicest, friendliest people I've ever met, and they welcomed us with a genuine warmth and hospitality. We talked to them about the long winters, the differences between our countries, the similarities. We noted such oddities (to us) as gravy or vinegar on french fried potatoes, the fact that waitresses never write down orders, and artificial dairy products are illegal in public eating facilities. We kept up our energy requirements via lumps of butter and whipped and sour cream.

Hunting is prohibited on Sunday, so we fished for lake trout in Clearwater Lake, a body so clean and clear you can literally drink from it. Under Roy Carter's instruction we trolled up six nice trout in the 3-6 pound range.

The six days went fast, and the trip was over too soon. But we savored it, that magnificent north country with a bounty game the likes of which we'd never seen. It was everything we'd hoped for and then some. I left with a satisfied feeling.

I also left with a note of optimism. The last day there I visited with Dick Robertson, regional biologist for northwestern Manitoba. Robertson said he was optimistic about waterfowl's future in The Pas area, feeling the number of ducks there would double in the next decade. The reason? Ducks Unlimited and the good done by the dollars of American sportsmen. Robertson said DU has recently gained access to three key wetland areas around The Pas, and their improvement will mean assurance that, when cold winds blow, we in Kentucky will continue to get flights of mallards, widgeons, pintails. Except now, for me, they won't be quite so mysterious.

Fishing Report

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Fishing the state's big lakes continues to prove more productive as surface water temperatures and water levels decline. The state gave this outlook:

Herrington: Bluegill good along shoreline cover; crappie fair along shoreline cover; clear to murky, falling slowly, 12 feet above pool and 68.

Cumberland: Crappie good on lower lake on minnows at heads of creeks drifting over old creek channels and still fishing over submerged cover, fair on upper lake still and drift fishing minnows in inlets and bays; black bass fair on lower lake trolling deep runners off points and still fishing small crawfish during the afternoons off steep rocky points and banks; white bass and black bass slow on upper lake trolling deep runners with trailers in large bays at the heads of tributaries; in tailwaters, trout fair; clear to murky, falling, 18 feet below the timberline and 68.

Cave Run: Black bass fair on crank baits in timbered coves and inlets and bays; crappie fair over submerged cover; clear to murky to muddy, rising, two feet below pool and 66.

Barren: Black bass fair to good on spinner baits and buzz baits in flooded brush; crappie slow in shallow flooded brush; clear, falling slowly, 15 feet above pool and 65.

Dale Hollow: Black bass fair drifting crawfish off deep rocky points and banks; walleye slow with some black bass trolling deep runners off deep rocky points and banks; clear, stable at pool and 68.

Green: Crappie fair over submerged cover; black bass slow on spinner baits around submerged treestumps and brush; murky to muddy, falling, 10 feet above pool and 68.

Rough River: Crappie slow to fair in flooded timber; black bass slow on spinner baits around flooded brush; clear to murky, falling, 24 feet above pool and 69.

Kentucky: Black bass slow to fair on spinner baits off points and over stumpbeds; crappie slow over channel dropoffs; in tailwaters catfish slow; clear to murky to muddy, falling, two feet below pool and 68.

Barkley: Crappie fair over submerged cover and dropoffs; in tailwaters catfish fair; clear to murky to muddy, falling slowly, two feet below pool and 67.

Fishtrap: Bluegill fair over shallow dropoffs; in tailwaters trout fair; clear to murky to muddy, stable, 15 feet below pool and 66.

Buckhorn: Crappie slow drifting minnows over deep cover; black bass slow on medium deep runners off rocky points and banks and over creek channels; in tailwaters trout fair; clear to murky to muddy, falling, two feet below pool and 69.

Nolin: Black bass fair on spinner baits over flooded cover; clear to murky, falling, 17 feet above pool and 71.

Laurel: Trout slow still and drifting fishing nightcrawlers at night off deep banks; walleye slow trolling deep runners off deep banks; clear, falling slowly, three feet below pool and 66.

Dewey: Crappie slow around stickups; murky, stable at pool and 62.

Deer Poaching May Increase

NEW CASTLE, Ky. (AP) — State conservation officer Joe Wilson says 8 to 10 deer have been shot illegally in Henry and Owen counties in the past four weeks and he's afraid the problem will increase.

Wilson said there probably have been more deer killed illegally than legally "in these counties in the past four or five years."

He said the poaching season runs from mid-September through December because deer are more visible as leaves fall and carcasses keep better in cool weather.

Wilson said Henry and Owen counties are particularly susceptible to illegal hunting because they have the largest deer population in north-central Kentucky. He said he's not sure why people hunt illegally, adding that when cleaned and butchered a deer produces 100 pounds or less of meat.

The meat sells for 35 to 50 cents a pound, so each deer produces only about $35 to $50 worth of meat, Wilson said.

"I don't think the profit margin is enough they'd be making a lot of money out of it," he added.

Wilson said he assumes some illegal hunters "get a kick out of trying to get by."

He and 12 other conservation officers in the area have been working three to five nights a week to catch poachers.

SOME FISHERY FACTS

Many people believe that all it takes to be an expert fisherman is to sound like one.

Others insist that you must catch fish.

Here are a few simple facts from Mercury outdoors' fishing department which you can use, either catch more fish, or to impress friends.

Do fish hear?

Yes, but not the same as most other creatures. Fish do not have external ears but they do detect sounds and vibrations in water by means of an internal air bladder which transmits sound to an ear chamber.

Also, experiments have shown that some fish use their lateral lines to detect vibrations.

Do fish see underwater?

Definitely, although their vision is limited by the short distance light travels in water. Do fish shed their scales?

No, scales only grow bigger. Biologists use the scales to age fish, with rings corresponding to each year of a fish's life.

Do fish drink water?

Not freshwater fish. They take in water with their food, and also when they force water through the gills to obtain oxygen.

Most of this is probably expelled immediately.

Saltwater fish do drink water, since the high concentration of salt in the water around them tends to cause a loss of natural body fluids.

They pass off excess salt through special cells.

Do fish sleep?

Biologists say yes. Fish do not have eyelids and therefore don't close their eyes, but they do take time out to rest.

Fishing Line

The past week has been an enjoyable one in several ways. One is knowing the lake elevation is dropping back to winter pool. Another nice thing was being able to find some fish after the water settled and the big cold front passed on through.

I fished four days with some fine ladies from Chicago Ill. while the high winds and cold air made shoulders shiver and fingers clumsy, yet, the only complaints I heard were about losing a fish or not being quick enough at setting the hook.

Dorothy Morrison and LaVada Barker fished from the time they got into the boat in the morning until it was too dark to see. They caught several different kinds of fish casting for bass, each one adding a thrill that will be remembered for a long time.

I must tell you though, some of their determination and stamina was prompted by the mother hen and land lubber, Delores Robinson.

Delores does not fish from a boat nor does she ride in one but she would send her companions out each day and say "don't come back without some fish!"

We lost several big bass maybe we shouldn't have but that is what makes this great sport such a challenge.

My thanks to a fine trio and I look forward to fishing with them again!

Most of our fish were taken on crank baits reeled swiftly along rocky points and flats. When things settle down a bit more other lures will probably do as well.

The crappie have been slow like in the early spring but I feel sure we just need some pretty weather to get them on the move.

I made one attempt at trolling when the lake was falling and it was a dry run. The sauger like a little current to run and feed with but we just had too much.

The striped bass below Eggners Ferry Bridge have been hard put to chase the shad minnows around the pilings but I expect them to return soon.

Catfish and sunfish are feeling the effects of the cool weather. It has prevented the insects from buzzing around the shorelines and providing food for them. It also looks as if the end is near for many of the millions of biting flies on the LBL side of Ky. Lake. Hooray for that!

They were beginning to carry straws to drink the repellent used against them.

Happy Fishing!

Always Wear Hunter Orange

By MICHAEL HOFFMAN

Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —

I was moving slowly and quietly — I thought — along the rugged hillside trying to stay with the tracks of what looked to be a heavy buck when I spotted the hunter with his rifle pointed in my direction.

He was an older man and from the way he held the deer rifle it appeared he knew what he was about. But he was about to kill me. And only my shouts kept him from squeezing the trigger on the well-worn .30-30.

He came down the hill and apologized. He had thought I was a deer. He didn't know how he could have made such a mistake. He'd been hunting whitetails in those woods for more than 40 years. While he'd missed a few he shot at, he had never made that kind of a mistake before.

Or had he?

Neither of us hunted anymore that day. He went back to his camp. I went back to mine.

I don't know about the other hunter, but when I got back to camp I started thinking pretty hard about what had almost happened. And I went over everything that I had done, trying to figure out just what I could do to lower the chances of such a thing ever happening to me again.

I also spent a good deal of time reviewing my own possible near misses — if any. I had been still-hunting — moving through the woods, hoping to spot a deer — when I saw some fresh tracks and decided to follow them.

It was about 10 a.m., and I had left my stand on that opening morning in Pennsylvania to see if I might have better luck moving around.

I was wearing my usual dark red and black checked wool hunting clothes, chosen because they blend in well and because whitetails might miss me if they glanced my way in passing as I stayed motionless.

As it turned out, my clothing had almost gotten me killed.

The other hunter, seeing movement in the brush below him, tired and cold, and hoping that he was about to draw a bead on the biggest buck in the state, shouldered his rifle and got ready to collect his venison.

He did two things wrong. First, he allowed his wish for a deer to get the better of him. Second, he was going to shoot without being sure of his target.

I did one thing wrong. I was not dressed in hunter orange, that extraordinarily bright cloth that makes a hunter stand out to the human eye in any cover and across great distances.

Although that close call occurred a number of years ago, hunter orange material had been around. It just wasn't traditional and I wasn't going to be caught dead wearing it in the woods.

Well, I almost was caught dead in the woods without it. I always wear hunter orange during gun seasons now. I won't hunt with anyone who doesn't wear it.

It's an idea whose time has come.

League Of Ky. Sportsmen To Meet

The League of Kentucky Sportsmen, first district Federation will hold a meeting Monday, October 15, at Camp Currie in Fairdeal. The meeting will begin with a supper at 7 p.m. A Spokesman said that several speakers had been invited among those were Mr. Carl Kays. All members are urged to attend to help prepare for the June convention.

Telethon Tournament

A bass tournament was held out of Kenlake Marina Saturday, October 6 with all the proceeds going to the Telethon. The tournament was sponsored by the Kentucky Lake Bass Club and Mayfield Bass Club, and all prizes were donated by local merchants.

A total of $790 was collected for the telethon and prizes were given through 24th place. The tournament lasted from 7 a.m. until 3 p.m. with 79 fishermen entered. Out of 91 fished caught, 88 were alive and released back into the lake.

First Place: Ralph Morgan, Russellville, four new tires, McNeil Tire, Paducah, CB Radio, Super D Drug, Mayfield.

Second place Pee Wee Delk, Mayfield, Crome step bumper, D&L Bumper, Paducah, $25 gift certificate from Farmington Grocery.

Third Place: J. T. Piercefield, Benton, Portable B&W TV, Morris TV, Mayfield.

Fourth place: Jerry McConnell, Murray, Snap-On Toolbox, Terry Mullins, Murray.

Fifth place: Gary Marquardt, Murray, set of Stryder shock absorbers, McClure Auto Parts, Mayfield.

Winners of the Telethon Tournament held Saturday October 6, were left to right: Ralph Morgan, Russellville, first place; Pee Wee Delk, Mayfield, second place; J.T. Piercefield, Benton, third place; Jerry McConnell, Murray, fourth place; Gary Marquardt, Murray, fifth place.

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 19)

A friends may be somewhat critical. Still, you have the go ahead to initiate a business deal. Seek proper financial backing.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 20 to Feb. 18)

You cannot ride roughshod over the objections of others. Still, you can make important progress through initiative.

PISCES
(Feb. 19 to Mar. 20)

Throw yourself into work, but avoid an exchange of words with co-workers. Do your duty, but don't be a know-it-all.

YOU BORN TODAY like action but not routine work. You like to take chances and can succeed as an actor, stock broker, or promoter. Your thirst for the unusual, carried to an intellectual plane, makes you an innovator and leader in thought. Strongly allied to art, you can succeed as a designer, poet, playwright, or musician. Your greatest success comes with the development of social awareness and a sense of responsibility towards others. Then, you can make a valuable contribution in public affairs and education. Spend on essentials only. An unexpected expense could arise in connection with entertainment plans. A date may be temperamental.

LEO
(July 23 to Aug. 22)

You may be upset by a domestic matter. If you speak up, you'll obtain more time re the payment of a bill. You're articulate and convincing.

VIRGO
(Aug. 23 to Sept. 22)

Be tactful. An offhand remark could offend sensitive types. You'll accomplish more from behind-the-scenes than through direct action.

LIBRA
(Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)

Overall social outlook is good, but a small disagreement could arise about money. Take a friend into your confidence.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

Avoid friction with higher-ups. Career progress possible if you'll downplay ego. An old business associate offers help in some way.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

Avoid arguments about philosophy or religion. Attend a social gathering or cultural event, but be careful how you express your views.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 19)

An excellent time for business progress, but you'll have to avoid stepping on the toes of a sensitive type, or you won't hear the end of it.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 20 to Feb. 18)

Close allies or mates may be somewhat edgy. Be attentive, and you'll thereby insure harmony. Follow their lead re entertainment plans.

PISCES
(Feb. 19 to Mar. 20)

Co-workers may be out-of-sorts, but if you'll ignore their remarks, you'll make progress at work. A loved one has a calming influence on you.

YOU BORN TODAY are a natural critic of society and its values. You'd make a fine educator and are inclined to a philosophic approach to life. You have the ability to commercialize your artistic talents and can succeed as an actor, writer, musician, or artist. Tough, you can succeed in business, but you're more inclined to a professional career. Law, literature, science, medicine, and diplomacy are some of the fields in which you'd find happiness. Your greatest success comes with a good education in the field of your choice. Birthdate of: Friedrich Wilhelm Nietzsche, philosopher; C.P. Snow, author; and John Kenneth Galbraith, economist.

MSU Faculty Members Play Key Roles In Statewide Meeting

Faculty members from the Division of Social Work at Murray State University played key roles in a statewide meeting of the Kentucky Association of Social Work Educators (KASWE) at Barren River State Park near Glasgow Oct. 3-5.

Dr. Julie Lovins, assistant professor and KASWE president, presided during the meeting. Dr. Rosemarie B. Bogal, assistant professor, conducted a work session on school social work, and Dr. Mark Singer, assistant professor, gave a report on social work licensing.

Dr. Wallace Baggett, professor and division director, along with two student representatives of the Social Work Club, Sherry Graybeal and Karen Shipley, also attended the conference.

The theme of the conference, "Strategies for Change," examined various methods of social change. Current issues faced by social work practitioners were also discussed.

Mark Battle, professor of social work at the Howard University Graduate School of Social Work, delivered the keynote address. He is a special consultant to the National Association of Social Workers, the national professional organization for social work, and chairman of the board of Mark Battle Associates, a managerial consulting firm.

National 4-H Week

OCTOBER 7-13

The Penny Loafers 4-H Club was named the Outstanding 4-H Club for the past year. The members are: John Warren Nix, Michelle Ford, Tracy Beach, Dawn Roesch, Tonya Kirk, Renee Montgomery, Marcia Ford, Jeanne Thorn, Debbie Key, Jill Rowland, Khonda Kerr, Lisa Wilson, Donnie Bucy, Dana Cunningham. Not pictured are: Amy Carraway, Jody Burkeen, Mark Jones and Karen Ingram. Teen leaders are Deana Cunningham and Carla Beach. The Penny Loafers Club which meets at North Elementary School is led by Mrs. Danny Cunningham.

Shows Can Be Fun For 4-H

4-H can be fun as well as work. I have had fun in 4-H this year! I have three Holstein calves as my projects. I have showed my calves in most of the Western Kentucky fairs, several West Tennessee fairs, the Kentucky and Tennessee State Fairs, the mid-South fair at Memphis, and the Kentucky National Holstein show in Shelbyville, Ky.

By taking care of my calves, I have learned a lot of things, mostly responsibility. You must care for your animals so they will grow up to be the best animals possible.

4-H teaches you to be proud when you win, but to also know there is a winning end of the line and a losing end. Most of us know what both ends feel like before the show season is over.

I have gone places and met new people I would not have met if it were not for my 4-H projects. I am very proud of my new friends I have made and hope we will be friends for life.

4-Hers Dwaine McKinney and Lisa Howard exhibited their dairy projects at the County, Area, and State Dairy Shows.

Calloway 4-H dairy judging attended Cow Camp in Shelbyville and the State dairy judging contest held at the University of Kentucky. Those attending were: Sherri Tidwell, Lisa Howard, Debbie Key, Dana Cunningham, Amanda Shelton, Doug McKinney, Peggy Bassford, Deana Cunningham, Bob McKinney, Karen McKinney, Mike Rogers, Lisa Rogers, Dwaine McKinney, and Staci Tidwell.

Garden Wins

By Amy Carraway
Penny Loafers 4-H Club
I belong to the Penny Loafers 4-H club. For my first projects I chose to make a Desert Dish Garden and a Terrarium. I chose my projects because I think plants are pretty and would be fun to work with. I selected my containers first, then bought the plants and accessories from Shirley Florist.

For the Desert Dish Garden the container was a small, shallow flower pot. I used three small cactus plants, covered the soil with sand, and used small animals as accessories.

For my terrarium I used a covered glass container. I used three plants suitable for my terrarium. I used green gravel for the grass, and blue gravel for the stream. I used small plastic animals as accessories.

I entered my projects in the county fair and won a blue ribbon and a championship ribbon for each project. I also entered them in the District Fair in Mayfield, and won a blue ribbon and a championship ribbon for each one.

Burley Crop Helps Teach Responsibility

Last season I grew a half-acre of Burley Tobacco. The gross profit was $1,601.09. This crop taught me responsibility, how to work with others, to plant a crop, how to handle money, how to market a product and how it is grown.

This year I have a half-acre of Burley tobacco. I entered a display at Calloway County Fair. It won 1st place and Grand Champion. For this I am very proud.

Participates In State Fashion Review

I have been in 4-H for six years. All the years I have been in 4-H I have been a part of the clothing project. Each year I receive a project book telling me what my goals are for the upcoming year. During this year I work hard to try to obtain these goals in the best way possible.

The projects range in difficulty from Stitching Fun (making a tote bag) to Special Occasion (making a long dress). These projects are designed so that you learn something new each year.

This year I was in the intermediate dress division. In this project I made a sundress that I modeled in the senior division of the County Fashion Revue this spring and won top honors. This entitled me to attend 4-H Week in Lexington and model my dress at the State Fashion Revue representing Calloway County.

We arrived at the University of Kentucky's Campus on June 11. That afternoon all fashion revue participants had an orientation in which fashion models from New York showed us the correct way to model. The next day we were judged and that night, the fashion revue was held. The theme was "Super

SHARE YOUR SKILLS BE A LEADER!

Horse Camp

On a Friday afternoon we left for horse camp. This was my first experience so I had a lot to learn. We had to get up early to feed and groom the horses. Saturday we had classes on how to care for our horse and show in halter. Sunday was a fun day with a trial ride. I learned first hand about 4-Hers sharing with others. My horse was injured the day before we left but each member was willing to share with me. I had a great time and I'm looking forward to going again.

Showing Horses

My experiences started at 4-H Horse Camp. We learned a lot about how to show our horses and the small things judges look for and count off for. I learned the proper way to show in showmanship at halter, and how to train my horse to do the things that are expected of her in a class. I also learned how to do those things in a 4-H horsemanship class.

I went to the area show and showed in five classes including showmanship and horsemanship. I received Grand Champion in showmanship and 3rd in horsemanship. At state I won a white ribbon in horsemanship. So my 4-H experiences at camp helped me in the 4-H show and other shows at different places.

4-H - Expanding Horizons

National 4-H Week is the focal point of the annual 4-H calendar - an appropriate time to recognize volunteer leaders, parents, extension professionals, and local groups and businesses for their contributions throughout the year to the development of youth and to the betterment of the community.

4-H is unique in several ways. The largest youth-serving program in the United States, it involves more than 5.2 million young people in projects and activities that are relevant to everyday living. It operates via a special partnership of the public, private and voluntary sectors. And it serves a broad clientele - boys and girls 9-19 in all geographic areas.

The National 4-H Week theme, "Expanding Horizons," calls on 4-H members everywhere to become productive, self-directed and contributing members of society. In our rapidly changing world, it is increasingly important that young people learn life skills, prepare for meaningful careers, and assume citizenship and leadership responsibilities. We take this opportunity to salute all those who make it possible for youth to expand their horizons through the 4-H educational program.

4-H member assists in conducting a vision-screening test. The national 4-H health program received additional support from the private sector last year when Kraft, Inc. joined Eli Lilly and Company in sponsoring incentives and recognition for 4-H'ers and 4-H groups.

Leland Steely, Superstars 4-H Club won the junior swine judging contest held at the University of Kentucky. Leland placed 14th overall. He was a member of the junior 4-H Livestock Judging team which placed 12th out of 42 teams participating.

Calloway County 4-H'ers participating in the Area Fashion Review were br. Trisha Clark, Carla Beach, Tracy Beach, and Leigh Ann Steely, fr. Gaye Martin, Denise Randolph, and Dana Cunningham.

Unforgettable Experience

I have been a teen leader for going on two years. In those two years I have participated in a number of activities such as the variety show, the fair, the club meetings and others. I have learned quite a bit about myself and those I have worked with.

4-H has so much to offer to anyone who would like to join and participate in all activities.

I've loved every minute that I have been in 4-H and I hope 4-H will continue to live and breathe in my community.

Truly for me, Jeanna Cooper, 4-H has been an unforgettable experience.

Photography Enjoyable As Project

I enjoy photography as my project. Photography has many great advantages such as taking pictures of places you go and things that you do. I gave a speech at Calloway County High School and I got first place and Champion. I went to Ballard Memorial High School and I only got first place, but not Champion. I'm expecting to learn a lot in 4-H this year and I encourage other boys and girls to join 4-H if they haven't already.

Field Trips Are Exciting, Lots Of Fun

By Mark Bazzell
Stella Stars

Hi! My name is Mark Bazzell. Last year in 4-H I had a lot of fun. One of the main things that I liked was visiting the Murray State University Center and some other farms in the Calloway County area. We saw some cows being milked and we saw some experimental gardens planted by some Murray State University students. Also we saw a bunch of beautiful horses that the MSU students owned. 4-H is really exciting!

4-H'er Enjoys Cooking And Sewing, Too

Nita Michelle Nute, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nute, is a fifth grade student at Southwest Calloway Elementary School. Nita and her family moved to Murray in July from Memphis, Tennessee. Being the daughter of teachers, Nita has always been actively involved in many kinds of school activities. One activity she has been most active in is 4-H work. While in Memphis, she worked on several projects, one of which was the bicycle safety program. She attended Safety Town in Memphis and was awarded a Safety Town diploma. This program worked in conjunction with Memphis City Police Department. She recently attended Murray State Student Government's Safety program.

Nita enjoys cooking and recently obtained a sewing kit which she is now enjoying. During 4-H this year she hopes to continue with cooking, safety, and plant life.

Knitting Is Learned By Club Member

I have enjoyed three lovely years in 4-H. We have skating parties, picnics, candy sales, and very enjoyable banquets in all of our county groups.

My first year in 4-H I made a pair of house shoes using one thread, the second year I made a pair of house shoes with two threads and in my third year I made a sweater using all the stitches I have learned.

I have won several blue ribbons at county fairs, in the district and also at the state fair.

I am very proud to be a 4-H member as it provides many opportunities for me.

4-H'ers Make Clothes

By Dana Cunningham
Penny Loafers

This is my fourth year in sewing. I really like being able to make my own clothes. But when I first started out it wasn't all that easy. My first year I wanted to make something that I could use at camp, so I decided on a travel kit and the tote bag. The picking out of the material and finding just the right size towel was a little hard. I carried my record book so that everything was bought the correct size and the right amount. I learned to sew a straight seam and the rest was easy to do. I won in construction which the project was sent to the State Fair in the summer, and on modeling which I got to go and model at the Purchase Area. We got to be on television. This was very exciting to me. My record book was then entered in the county. After you win the county it is then entered in the Purchase and there I got a blue ribbon.

My second year I made a skirt. This was a little harder but I was really proud to be able to pick the pattern and the material all by myself. I learned the proper way to lay the pattern on the material and to go very slowly when cutting the garment out. It was again the sewing of straight seams and a new learning process by putting in the hem. I again won in the county in construction and it got to go to the State Fair. The record book was again filled out and I got to go to the Purchase Area.

My third year was my best. I picked out a sundress and the material was white eyelet. It turned out so pretty and it really did fit good. I modeled it in the Fashion Review and was champion in construction and champion on modeling. I got to go again to model at the Purchase Area, and it was put on television. It was fun being able to see myself on television. At the State Fair I was awarded with a big blue ribbon. I am looking forward to this upcoming year in 4-H and in my sewing projects. It makes me feel that I can make anything with just a little money and a little time. It is a fun project being in sewing.

1979 THEME: "EXPANDING HORIZONS"

5.2 Million Youth To Observe National 4-H Week Oct. 7-13

From RED 1 to 77th Street, more than 5.2 million young people nationwide are observing National 4-H Week Oct. 7-13.

Whatever their address, 4-H members in the United States, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam are taking part in special activities that focus attention on the values of 4-H, the nation's largest youth-serving program.

The National 4-H Week theme, "Expanding Horizons," challenges 4-Hers everywhere to "seek new knowledge, acquire life skills and add on personal strengths."

It calls on members to strengthen their citizenship and leadership abilities and to assume positive roles in a free democratic society.

Boys and girls 9-19 participate in 4-H through organized clubs, special interest groups, short-term projects, camping, television series, and programs planned to meet their specific needs in the communities where they live.

Twenty-three percent of 4-H members now reside in suburbs of cities or in central cities, of more than 50,000 population, 21 percent live on farms, 40 percent in small towns or open country, and 16 percent in towns and cities of 10,000-50,000.

4-H is the youth education program of the Cooperative Extension Service, and is conducted jointly by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the land-grant universities, and state and local governments.

580,000 adults and teens serve as volunteer 4-H leaders at the local level.

4-H projects and activities encourage young people to learn and apply real-life skills and to become competent, productive citizens.

Around the world, 82 countries have youth education programs similar to 4-H.

Fontana Conference Yearly

The Fontana 4-H Resource Development Conference is held each year at Fontana Village, Fontana Dam, North Carolina.

It is sponsored by the Tennessee Valley Association of Test Families, The Agricultural Extension Service and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Participating states are Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, Virginia and Tennessee.

The purpose of the conference is to increase knowledge and appreciation of the natural resources of the Valley region.

As a County delegate in 1978 and as a State returnee delegate in 1979 I attended Leadership Workshops designed to involve the youth of the Valley in becoming more aware of these resources and their management for the benefit of all.

The overall theme of the 1979 Conference was "Close Encounter" of The Valley Kind. As speaker for Kentucky I presented a speech on the history of coal, our principal mineral resource and projected a look into the future need of coal as a principal energy source.

In addition to the educational aspects of the trip we stayed overnight at Gatlinburg, took scenic tours of the Smokies and had access to the many recreational facilities at Fontana Village.

A 4-H'er Visits Washington, D.C.

4-H has always been a learning process from the very beginning. I have always finished my projects by filling out the record book. At first I didn't realize the importance of this until this year. This helped me to get to take a trip to Washington D.C. with the other 4-Hers from Kentucky. I really had a good time. There are so many sights to see and I want to tell you all about them. Starting out we got to see the Capitol Building, where at the death of a President they will lay in state. There has been four that were slain that have been here. They were Presidents Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley and Kennedy. On its steps are where nearly all the Presidents since Jackson have been inaugurated. It is also the place where our laws are made. I felt so honored to be able to visit the United States Senate Chamber and the U.S. House of Representatives. The Supreme Court was also located in the Capitol Building for a long time until it finally got a home of its own around 1935.

We got to visit Mount Vernon, the home and tomb of George Washington. It was so exciting because I had always read about it in my classes. It was truly beautiful to look at and to see the Potomac River and the Maryland countryside. We also visited the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. We went to Arlington Cemetery to visit the grave of the Unknown Soldier and of John F. Kennedy. We got to see the White House, Washington's Monument, the Jefferson Memorial, the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington Cathedral. This was built because George Washington had a vision that this church would serve the nation. Just below the Pilgrim's Steps there is a bronze statue of Washington finished in gold lead that stands in the blaze, built in his honor.

These are but a few of the many things that I got to see and there were many new friends made. We participated in many 4-H activities. I will always remember this trip and I urge others to start working now in 4-H to be able to make some of the trips that 4-H offers. My trip was also helped sponsored by the Loyal Order of the Moose, and I really appreciate them being interested in us, the youth.

House Leaders Searching For Way To Overturn Controls Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders are searching for a way to overturn a vote to lift price controls on gasoline, an action one critic says could lead to $2-a-gallon gas.

The House voted by a slim 191-188 margin Friday to immediately lift all price and allocation controls on gasoline.

Even though gasoline prices have risen sharply this year to more than $1 a gallon, the increases have all been under the framework of federal price controls that generally prohibit increases that cannot be justified under a complicated set of regulations.

Under the House vote, oil retailers could set their prices at whatever the market would bear.

Sponsors of the amendment to free prices claimed federal price regulations were making shortages worse without protecting consumers from higher prices. Gasoline is the only petroleum product that remains under price controls established in 1973.

Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the House energy and power subcommittee, predicted the move could send prices at the pump soaring towards $2 a gallon.

"It guarantees massive increases in prices, especially if there is a shortage," Dingell said. "It leaves the American consuming public naked to any shutoff of supplies or a panic market."

Later in the day, oil industry and U.S. government sources said Iran apparently has drastically cut its oil exports in recent days, a development that could have serious consequences in the United States if the reduction continues.

The suspension of Iranian oil last winter was cited as a key cause of shortages that caused long gasoline lines and sharply higher prices for petroleum products.

According to U.S. government figures, Iran supplies about 900,000 barrels of oil a day to the United States, about 5 percent of daily consumption.

Supporters of gasoline deregulation — and even some of its opponents — disputed that prices would rise as high as Dingell predicted.

Another vote on the issue will be held early next week as the House continues work on the overall bill, a measure authorizing Department of Energy programs. Although it is working on a companion measure, the Senate has yet to take up the issue of gasoline price decontrol.

THE REV. TERRY SILLS will be the speaker at the revival services to start Sunday, Oct. 14, at 7 p.m. at the Grace Baptist Church, 617 South Ninth Street, Murray. Services will be held at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. each day throughout the week. Rev. Sills is pastor of the West End Baptist Church, Paducah, and is a former pastor of the Kirksey and Sinking Spring Churches in Calloway County. Leland Peeler is music director and the Rev. R. J. Burpee is pastor who invite the public to attend the services.

School Systems To Be Involved In Special Education Workshop

Four West Kentucky city school systems will be involved Oct. 17-19 in the first orientation workshop sponsored by Project EASE (Environmental Approaches to Special Education) at Murray State University.

The workshop, to be held at the Brandon Spring Group Camp in The Land Between The Lakes, will be attended by three "teams" from each of the four school systems: Murray City, Paducah City, Hopkins County and Dawson Springs.

Making up the "leadership team" will be superintendents, assistant superintendents, supervisors and principals. The "support teams" will be composed of counselors, school psychologists, speech therapists and others, while the "instructional teams" will include principals, classroom and special education teachers, each from the same school.

Project EASE is a regular education inservice project funded by the Bureau of Education for the Handicapped, and has been selected as an exemplary national impact program in improving the skills of regular classroom teachers in working with handicapped children. Environmental education, a widely accepted approach to teaching in the West Kentucky area, is being used as an instructional vehicle in the project, which is aimed at bringing about systemic change within the participating school districts, according to Mrs. Vicki Blades, the project coordinator and an instructor in the special education department at Murray State.

The purpose of the Brandon Spring workshop, she explained, is six-fold: to provide an overview of the project for the participants; to provide simulation activities to increase awareness of handicaps; to provide an insight of the Education for All Handicapped Children Act and its implications for educators; to discuss assessment techniques; to provide experiences in environmental education; and to plan team activities for the school year.

Working with Mrs. Blades on the project as field consultants are Mike O'Brien and Mrs. Peggy Pack Hunter, also both faculty members in the Department of Special Education at the university.

Listed as consultants to the project are:

Terry Wilson, director of the Center for Environmental Education at Murray State; Tom Oppewal, a graduate assistant in the center; Steve Way, a psychologist with the Henry County, Tenn., schools; Glen Hendren, an assistant professor in the Department of Professional Studies; and members of the Student Council for Exceptional Children.

Democrats

Nunn, and two said the race was too close to call.

Among the Republicans, 25 made Reagan their first choice for the presidential nomination, 20 picked Connally, 12 chose former President Gerald Ford, six favored Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., and three picked Rep. Phillip Crane.

Alexander Halg, Sen. Robert Dole and George Bush were picked by one chairman each.

The tallies for second choice among Republicans: Connally 21, Reagan 16, Ford 14, Baker nine, Bush three, William Simon two, and Dole, Crane and Rep. John Anderson one each.

Twenty-two Republicans said they were working actively for their choice, four said they were not, and 43 said they were not but would in the future.

As for the governor's race, 45 Republican chairmen said they thought Nunn would win in their counties, 18 said Brown would prevail, and three said the race was too close to call.

One said Nunn would win the county if the turnout was small and Brown would win if it was large.

Names on the presidential list from which Democratic chairmen picked were California Gov. Brown, Carter, Kennedy, Moynahan and Stevenson.

The Republican list: Anderson, Baker, Bush, Connally, Crane, Dole, Benjamin Fernandez, Gerald Ford, Haig, Sen. Larry Pressler, Reagan and Stassen.

The second session will be held Tuesday, Oct. 16, at 9:30 a.m. at the Elm Grove Baptist Church, Highway 94 East, Murray, with the doctrinal

For the fourth consecutive year, the Department of Music at Murray State University is continuing its concentrated effort to stimulate renewed interest across West Kentucky in the playing of string instruments through its String Project for students four to 15 years of age.

More than 50 youngsters from Mayfield, Murray, Paducah and Gilbertsville already are enrolled in the fall class, according to its director, Robert Gillespie, an instructor of viola and violin who joined the faculty a year ago.

Vacancies still exist in the fall class for 12 students, Gillespie said, explaining that the program had been established to accomplish two things: to meet an increasing need for fully qualified string teachers where there is a void in both private and public elementary and secondary schools, and to provide practical teaching experience for the university's string instrument majors.

Gillespie said the 12 vacancies are the result of an expansion of the program, which this year has the largest enrollment of its four-year history.

Gillespie also announced that a new class for beginners in violin, viola, cello and string bass will be starting the week of Oct. 21-26 and will be open to students ages 5 through 12. To register, students or parents need only to call (Area Code 502) 762-4288, he said.

"There are many children in the elementary and secondary schools of our area who would like to learn to play a string instrument," said Gillespie, a native of Salem, Ore., and who came to the Murray campus after three years of teaching in the Houston, Tex., public schools.

"However, few programs are available to them. Consequently, our student teachers have no place to go for practical experience before they graduate unless we provide it here at the university."

"The string project also provides string instruction for young students and is an outlet for the development of satisfying musical expression," he went on.

Working with Gillespie in both individual and group instruction are: Kip Mason, Murray, a parttime student; Karen Barnett, a senior from Rolling Meadows, N. Y.; Karen Himmer, Cakohia, Ill., a graduate student; Scott Anderson, a sophomore from Louisville; Julie Heil, a sophomore from Millstadt, Ill.; Jane Harold, a senior from Reidland; Terri Miller, a junior from Owensboro; and Rosemary Dowell, a senior from Central City.

In addition to assisting Gillespie with the instructional phase of the program, the student teachers also will rehearse the youngsters and conduct

THE ACES

IRA G. CORN, JR.

"There's some folks standing behind the president that ought to get around where he can watch 'em" — Kin Hubbard

Declarer should have watched the high cards played by West to make today's entrapping game. Had he done that and remembered the bidding, he would have had no problems with the play.

West led the heart king and switched to the club queen after East played a discouraging heart four. Declarer won the club ace, played all of his trumps but one and took the inviting diamond finesse.

Neither opponent had any trouble finding discards on the parade of trumps and, when the diamond finesse lost, East led a heart to give the defense three hearts and a diamond to beat the game by one.

Instead of dazzling the defense with his long trump suit, declarer should have remembered the bidding and early play. West's heart king showed at least the ace and king and the switch to the club queen showed the queen and jack.

That totalled 10 high card points already and if the king of diamonds were with West, surely he might have found his opening bid.

To make the hand, declarer must allow West to win the queen of clubs. He wins the continuation with his ace and plays the king and a low trump to dummy's nine. He discards a low diamond on dummy's club king and the ace and queen of diamonds come next.

If East ducks, declarer throws a heart and, if East covers, declarer ruffs and draws trumps ending in
